

How to Use Your Commission / Split Calculator

SKU PAM-003 • COMMISSION / SPLIT CALCULATOR

What this workbook does

For co-host arrangements: you manage someone else's STR for a 15-25% revenue share, OR a flat fee per booking, OR a hybrid. This workbook computes per-month commission owed, tracks payments to the property owner (or to the co-host depending on direction), and produces 1099-NEC-ready year-end totals.

First-time setup (15 min)

1. Property Roster — every property you co-host or own under co-host arrangement.
2. Per-Property Agreement — commission model:
 - % of revenue (typical 15-25%)
 - Flat per booking (e.g., $50/booking)
 - Hybrid (e.g., $50/booking + 10%)
3. Owner / Co-Host Roster — contact info + W-9 for 1099-NEC purposes.

Every month

1. Update the Booking Log with that month's bookings + revenue.
2. The Commission Calc auto-applies the per-property model to each booking.
3. Per-Owner Payment Schedule shows what's owed to whom.
4. Pay (Venmo / ACH / check). Mark Paid in the workbook.

At year-end

The 1099-NEC Summary tab pulls every owner / co-host who received $\geq $600$ in the calendar year. Outputs:

- Recipient name + EIN/SSN + address (must have W-9 on file)
- Total paid in calendar year
- W-9 status flag

This data feeds directly into TAX-003 1099-NEC Tracker for Form 1099-NEC filing.

Two directions of payment

The workbook handles both:

- You manage someone's property → you collect revenue, pay owner their share, keep your commission. Owner gets the 1099-NEC (you paid them).
- Someone manages your property → owner collects revenue, pays you commission. You get the 1099-NEC (they paid you).

The Direction setting per property routes the math correctly.

Common surprises the workbook catches

- "I'm paying my co-host but they don't have a W-9 on file" — fix before December 15
- "The hybrid commission model is more profitable than I thought" — useful for renegotiations
- "One owner relationship has thin margins after I net out my time" — feeds PAM-004 Multi-Owner Consolidated
